90-Day Priorities

A one-page quarter plan: one measurable outcome, three priorities that get you there and a stop list of everything you're not doing.

BUILDER | 60 MIN | PLAYBOOK: WEEKLY CEO REVIEW

YOU WALK AWAY WITH
One outcome for the quarter, three priorities with a measure, first step and owner, a stop list, monthly milestones and a weekly rhythm that keeps it moving.

USE IT
In week 4 of your roadmap, when you write next quarter's three priorities, then once a month during your Weekly CEO Review.

Three, not ten. One outcome for the quarter, three priorities that get you there and a list of what you're saying no to.

Fill it in one sitting with your Weekly Founder Scorecard open. Keep every answer short. If a box needs a paragraph, you're not clear yet.

Where you are now

| Number | Last 30 days | Trend (up, flat, down) |
|---|---|---|
| Reach | | |
| Visits | | |
| Leads | | |
| Sales | | |
| Revenue | | |
| Hours per week | | |

Biggest bottleneck

If it disappeared, what would grow fastest?

The one outcome

One result you can count, by a date. 'Grow the business' is not an outcome. '20 paying clients in 90 days' is.

By [date], I will have

One number you can count: paying customers, orders or booked calls

Why this outcome, why now

One sentence

Three priorities

Each priority is a project that moves the outcome. If you only finished one, which would matter most? That's number one.

| Priority | 1 | 2 | 3 |
|---|---|---|---|
| What it is | | | |
| Why it matters | | | |
| How I'll measure it | | | |
| First step | | | |
| Owner (person or tool) | | | |

The stop list

What you are NOT doing this quarter. Write it down so you can say no without deciding again every week. Common ones: a second product, a new platform, paid ads before your page converts, a logo redesign.

> Eli's rule: there are a million ways to make money. Pick one, get really good at it and focus on it for the next five years.

| Not this quarter | Why it waits |
|---|---|

Monthly milestones

Each milestone is a checkpoint on the way to the outcome. Month 3's milestone is the outcome itself.

| Month | Milestone | Done? |
|---|---|---|
| 1 | | |
| 2 | | |
| 3 | | |

Weekly rhythm

Priorities happen on the calendar, not in your head. Give each block a fixed slot.

| What | Day and time | How long |
|---|---|---|
| Weekly CEO Review | | 30 minutes |
| Batch Day (film a week of content) | | 2 hours |
| Outreach block (DMs and follow-ups) | | |
| | | |

Risks

Name what could knock you off track: finals, a busy season at work, a platform change, losing your biggest client. Decide now what you'll do.

| What could go wrong | What I'll do |
|---|---|

Your people

Name real people, then ask this week.

A mentor

Someone a few steps ahead. When will you ask for 20 minutes?

A peer

Another founder you'll check in with every week or two

Who I'll ask for help, and with what

Be specific: a skill, an intro, an hour of their time

> “No one is truly self-made. Don't do it alone.”
> ELI

Perspective

Why does this outcome matter beyond the money?

What will I protect this quarter: faith, rest, health, the people closest to me?

Put it on the calendar like a priority

What would make this quarter a win even if the number falls short?

> “Always choose purpose over profit.”
> ELI

FILLED EXAMPLE

a print-on-demand brand

A print-on-demand shirt brand (hypothetical).

Where I am now, last 30 days: Reach 18,000. Visits 420. Leads 25. Sales 9. Revenue $270. 6 hours a week.
Biggest bottleneck: visits to sales. People look, few buy.

One outcome: 60 orders in 90 days.
Why now: holiday gifts are when people buy shirts.

Priority 1: fix the store page.
Why: the leak is between visits and orders. Measure: visits to orders, from 2% to 4%. First step: run the Landing Page Leak Audit on Sunday. Owner: me.

Priority 2: post four times a week on TikTok.
Why: reach feeds everything else. Measure: 4 posts a week for 12 weeks. First step: batch day on Saturday at 10 am. Owner: me, with CapCut for edits.

Priority 3: launch a three-shirt gift bundle.
Why: more revenue per order. Measure: bundles sold. First step: ask 10 past buyers which designs to include. Owner: me, with Shopify for the listing.

Stop list: no second platform, no new product line, no paid ads until the page converts, no logo redesign.
Milestones: month 1, page fixed and 15 orders. Month 2, bundle live and 35 orders total. Month 3, 60 orders.
Weekly rhythm: CEO review Sunday at 7 pm. Batch day Saturday at 10 am. Outreach Tuesday and Thursday at 8 pm, 30 minutes.
Risk: finals in month 2. Plan: batch two weeks of posts before finals start.
People: mentor, a local print shop owner I'll ask for coffee. Peer, a friend running a candle brand, check-in every other Friday.
Perspective: protecting Sunday mornings for church and family. A win even if I miss 60: I learned what makes people buy.

Next step

Run your Weekly CEO Review every week and pull each week's top three from this page. Once a month, mark the milestone done or not and adjust the next one.
