Booking Link Setup

Set up one booking link with 2 or 3 set time blocks a week, two intake questions and ready messages, so people book calls without the back-and-forth.

YOU WALK AWAY WITH

A tested booking link inside set weekly blocks, two intake questions, reminder and no-show messages, and the link placed everywhere people ask.

USE IT

Use it before you start outreach or launch, as soon as a short call is the next step for a buyer.

"What time works for you?" can take six messages. Some people give up before you agree on a time.

One link fixes it. You decide when you're available. They pick a slot. You show up ready.

What this does

People tap one link, pick a time inside the blocks you set, answer two questions and get a confirmation. The call goes on your calendar. You send one reminder and follow up yourself.

Before you start

- [ ] The calendar you actually use, on your phone and laptop.
- [ ] Two or three weekly time blocks picked. Not your whole week.
- [ ] A call length picked. 15 minutes is plenty for a first call.
- [ ] Your two intake questions (examples below).
- [ ] Your Pipeline Tracker open.

Pick your tool

	Calendly free plan	Google Calendar, personal account
Booking types	One event type	One booking page
Automatic reminders	Paid plans only	Paid Google plans only

	Calendly free plan	Google Calendar, personal account
Where you set it up	calendly.com	Google Calendar on a computer
Pick it if	You want a dedicated booking tool	You already live in Google Calendar

> On the free plans, neither tool sent automatic reminders when we checked. Send the reminder yourself the day before, using the copy below. It takes 30 seconds.

Set it up in Calendly

1. Sign up at calendly.com and connect your main calendar.
2. Create one event type, like 15-minute fit call. Pick phone, video or in person.
3. Set your availability to your 2 or 3 blocks only, like Tuesday and Thursday 4 to 6pm.
4. Add a buffer before and after each call, like 10 minutes, so calls never stack.
5. Set a minimum notice, like 12 hours, so nobody books you five minutes from now.
6. Add your two intake questions to the booking form.
7. Copy your link.

Or set it up in Google Calendar

1. On a computer, open Google Calendar. Click Create, then Appointment schedule. The phone app can't create one.
2. Set the call length and your 2 or 3 weekly blocks.
3. Under Booked appointment settings, add buffer time and a maximum bookings per day.
4. Under Booking form, click Add an item for each of your two questions.
5. Save. Open your booking page and copy its link.

Your intake questions (two max)

Two questions tell you enough to prepare. More than two and people quit the form.

Business	Question 1	Question 2
Tutoring	What subject and grade?	When is the next test?
Lawn care	What's the address?	Mowing, edging or a full cleanup?
Resume reviews	What role are you applying for?	How many applications have you sent?
Video editing for gyms	What's your gym's Instagram?	How many videos a week do you want?

Your messages

CONFIRMATION NOTE (ADD IT TO THE EVENT DESCRIPTION) COPY

You're booked. I'll [call this number / send a video link / meet you at the address] at the time you picked. To make 15 minutes count, have [one thing ready, e.g. your current resume]. Need to move it? Text me at [number] and we'll find a new time.

REMINDER (SEND IT YOURSELF THE DAY BEFORE) COPY

Hey [name], quick reminder: we're talking [day] at [time]. I'll [call you / send the link a few minutes before]. Still good?

NO-SHOW FOLLOW-UP (SEND 10 MINUTES AFTER THE START TIME) COPY

Hey [name], I was on for our [time] call. No worries if something came up. Want to grab another time? [booking link]

CLOSE THE LOOP (3 DAYS LATER, IF NO REPLY) COPY

Hey [name], I'll leave it here so I'm not filling your inbox. If [problem] is still a thing, grab any time that works: [booking link]

Put the link where people ask

- [ ] Your Instagram and TikTok bio, or your link-in-bio page.
- [ ] The main button on your landing page.
- [ ] Your email signature.
- [ ] Your Saved Replies and DM scripts, right after someone explains their problem. Outreach Scripts has the message.
- [ ] Your Comment-to-DM main message, if a call is the next step.

Log every booking

The same day someone books, add them to your Pipeline Tracker. Note the call date, their two answers and the stage Call booked. After the call, update the stage and the next step.

Test it

- [ ] Book a slot yourself from a different email, on your phone.
- [ ] It only offers times inside your blocks, with buffers.
- [ ] A confirmation arrives, and the call shows on your calendar.
- [ ] Your two questions show up, and you can see the answers.
- [ ] You cancel the test booking and the slot opens again.
- [ ] You send yourself the reminder and no-show messages to check they read well.

Keep it human

> Automate the repeat, never the relationship. The link finds the time. You read their answers before the call, show up early and follow up yourself.

If it breaks

- People book outside your blocks: check your availability and time zone settings.
- Double bookings: connect the calendar you actually use, so busy times block the link.
- No-shows pile up: send the reminder the day before and ask Still good? so they reply.
- You need two kinds of calls: the free plans give you one. Use one general call until a paid plan is worth it.

Next step

Your calls are booked. Now capture what people say on them. Set up Call Notes to Notion before your first booked call.

Make today day one.
